

I beleive the debate between improved wireless service and transferring a phone number between wireless phone providers should be decided in favor of improved service (signal). With good service there is little need to change prociders.